WHAT WE DO AT FIGHT COLORECTAL CANCER

 Awareness

Our awareness efforts unite communities to raise awareness about colorectal cancer. With our collective voices we harness the strength of the one million CRC survivors and move forward together. Our One Million Strong campaign educates that colorectal cancer is preventable, treatable and beatable.

 Advocacy & Policy

Each year, we train passionate people to engage in the political process and connect with elected officials across the country. Our advocates push for the support of screenings, lower costs and funding for research. Our Grassroots Action Committee (GAC) leads the charge.

 Patient Education

We provide free resources that bring the latest credible, up-to-date information to patients and caregivers. Our staff attends 10-12 medical conferences each year to put medical providers, academic institutions and community practices in touch with our programs and services.

 Research

Fight Colorectal Cancer works with the research community as we connect patients to clinical trials and train research advocates who voice the needs of patients to scientists. To support new, groundbreaking research we directly fund a late-stage CRC researcher each year.

IMPACT ON AWARENESS

One Million Strong is an award-winning awareness campaign inspired by the over one million survivors and those who've shown tremendous strength in light of the disease.

OUR GOAL

Raise public understanding of colorectal cancer and its impact. Empower survivors and their families to do something. Tell everyone 50+ that they need to be screened (age 45 for African Americans).

OUR IMPACT

- Recruited and engaged celebs to get involved: Craig Campbell, Katie Couric, Carson Daly, and Rocsi Diaz all posted on social media to support colorectal cancer through One Million Strong hashtags.
- Built strength through collaborations: we worked with 15+ organizations to raise awareness including Mayo Clinic, American Cancer Society, AACR, Minnesota Twins, and Bronner Bros show.
- Volunteers distributed OVER 40,000 of the I ♥ booty! blue awareness bands and  tattoos

On March 3 during our NYC event we reached:

Gauged public opinion on colorectal cancer: On-site interviews with over 70% of event attendees in NYC told us...

IMPACT ON ADVOCACY

OUR GOAL

Ensure that all patients, survivors and family members touched by colorectal cancer have a voice that pushes for policies that better support prevention, improved treatment options and research funding.

OUR IMPACT

- Recruited congressional support:

co-signed H.R. 1070 to support the removal of barriers to screening.

- Gained traction in the Senate:

S. 3248

Ohio's Sen. Sherrod Brown introduced S. 2348, the companion to the House bill. Advocates Sheila Schrack and Ed Murphy participated in his press conference.

- Gave advocates a voice from home:

We saw over 25,000 signatures on petitions we started that supported bills H.R. 1070 & S. 2348.

- Made a statement on the Hill:

Annual advocacy event Call-on Congress hosted more than 80 advocates from 29 states.

Advocates attended over 100 congressional office meetings in D.C. on March 18. We distributed over 1,500 blue star pins to congressional offices.

- Secured a presidential spotlight:

Working hand-in-hand with Congressman Donald Payne, Jr., we were one of several groups who helped secure a presidential proclamation for March 2014 as Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month – the first in 13 years!

ENGAGED A NATION OF ADVOCATES:

Blue Star States campaign recruited residents from all 50 states to request proclamations & 48 governors recognized March 2014 as CRC Awareness Month.

Early adaptors set a big goal:

Fight CRC was one of the first organizations to sign on to the new national screening goal of 80% screened by 2018, and is working with over 100 organizations to attain this audacious goal.

Connected survivors from all walks of life:

Advocate Kelly Kuster, stage IV survivor, met with Lt. Governor Rebecca Kleefisch of Wisconsin, a stage III survivor.

Received attention from senior administration: Fight CRC met with White House staff to push for an administrative fix for the colonoscopy loophole, in partnership with ACS CAN and other members of the National Colorectal Cancer Roundtable (NCCRT).

OUR GOAL

Proactively reach and empower patients with reliable and understandable information on prevention, treatment, survivorship and research.

OUR IMPACT

- Enhanced our resources for newly diagnosed patients:

Published 68-page Your Guide in the Fight for patients fighting stage III & stage IV colorectal cancer. Launched over 60 new pages of website content, blogs, videos and a monthly email sent to over 17K names.

EACH YEAR

OUR GOAL

Support both private and public funding for colorectal cancer research. Advancements in research will make better treatment options possible. We serve as a strong voice in the research community.

OUR IMPACT

2014 Lisa Fund grant winner Dr. Ho-Chou Tu at Boston Half Marathon

Funded late-stage colorectal cancer research:

$50,000 Lisa Fund grant awarded to Dr. Ho-Chou Tu of Boston Children's Hospital.

- Got our names out there: numerous poster presentations, speaking engagements and publications listed Fight CRC staff and advocates.
- Worked on PCORI grants: we worked with three academic institutions: University of North Carolina, University of Arizona, and Kaiser Permanente Division of Research on research projects.
- Actively participated in the research process:
 - ▶ Three advocates received scholarships to attend the annual American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) conference
 - ▶ 6 of our 15 research advocates participated in GI ASCO and toured two research facilities
 - ▶ 50% of our research advocates engaged on both local and national committees:
 - » Sat on grant committees
 - » Reviewed clinical trial protocols
 - » Spoke at conferences
 - » Commented on grant applications
 - » Provided public comments
